COMMITTEE

AGENDA

Food Safety Working Group

The International Commission of Agricultural and Biosystems Engineering - CIGR (Commission Internationale du Genie Rural) was founded in 1930 in Liège, Belgium, as an international, non-governmental, non-profit organization.

CIGR regroups, as a networking system, regional and national societies of agricultural and biological engineering as well as private and public companies and individuals all over the world, being the largest and highest international institution in the field.

CIGR Section VI (Postharvest and Bioprocess Engineering) deals with the engineering principles and technologies in postharvest and processing of agri-food products.

The general objective of the Food Safety Working Group linked to CIGR Section VI is to gather researchers specialised in all the fields related to Food Safety, aiming at presenting new achievements and trends in the Area.

The present Workshop will focus on all the elements related to food safety along food production chains, from raw material to foodstuffs, from production processes to food analyses.
